

GREENCASTLE'S OLDEST CITIZEN DIED ON SUNDAY

END CAME QUIETLY TO
E. A. BROWN, 99, AT THE HOSPITAL

E. A. Brown, believed to be the oldest resident of Putnam county, died quietly shortly before nine o'clock Sunday morning in the Putnam County Hospital where he had been taken Friday, following a slight illness. A lung congestion arose which resulted in his death. Had he lived until December 12, 1956, he would have been 100 years old.

Mr. Brown was born on December 12, 1856, in Princeton, West Virginia, the son of Cornelius and Martha Karna Brown. He was the last of his family to pass away. His father was killed early in the civil war and later Mr. Brown removed to Armstrong, Ill., with his mother and her husband. There he grew to manhood and entered the mercantile and banking business, having conducted a small bank in the store. Later the partnership was broken and Mr. Brown entered the banking profession in Ave. Ill., and followed it until his retirement in 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown came to Greencastle in 1923, following their sons, A. Glenn Brown, who took over the First National Bank in 1917 and later was joined by a brother, Russell E. Brown and their father in 1923..

Mr. Brown was a long time member of the Presbyterian church and was active in its activities until a few years ago. He was widely known throughout Putnam county, due to his banking activities and acquaintances. Mr. Brown is survived by the widow, a daughter, Mrs. Edith Marie Conner of Muncie, a son, Russell E. Brown of Los Angeles, both of whom came Sunday, seven grandchildren, twelve great grandchildren and other relatives. A son, A. G. Brown, preceded him in death in June, 1956.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 9:30 at the family residence followed by burial in Armstrong, Ill. The services will be in charge of the Rev. Donald Hartsock, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The family request no flowers and ask that donations be made to charities. The grandsons will act as pallbearers.

The Hopkins-Warlow Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Rumley is specifically charged with cashing a worthless check last August 4th for $5 at Hedge's Market. The affidavit against Rumley was signed by Doris Hedge.

To Practice Law In Indianapolis

He practiced law in this city for five years, and after World War I service, he entered the financial field in New York and organized the first trust department of the Guaranty Trust Company there.

Mr. Moore, who has been a Milwaukee, Wis., financial consultant in recent years, has maintained law offices in Indianapolis since May, 1955. He will be associated with Asa J. Smith in the Fletcher Trust Building.

NEW BUILDING IS LOCATED AT WASHINGTON AND JACKSON STS.

The opening of the new home of Greencastle Savings and Loan Association has been set for the week of Sept. 24 through 29. Perry M. Rush, president of the Association, and Ernest H. Collins, secretary, have announced.

The beautiful new building will be open for inspection between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on Friday, and from 9 to 12 o'clock on Wednesday and Saturday. Everyone is invited to see Greencastle's newest business establishment.

Visitors to the new building during opening week are invited to have their weight in gold certified. A certificate stating the equivalent value of his weight in gold at current market prices will be presented to each visitor.

The Association will also present a giant penny bank to each person who opens a new savings account or adds to his existing account during opening week. These banks, of copper-colored plastic, are made in imitation of one-cent coins and measure six inches in diameter. Each bank will hold up to $150 in coins and will take anything from a penny to a half dollar.

The new structure has been planned both for the convenience of the public and for ease, accessibility, and privacy in conducting business, according to Ernest H. Collins, secretary of the Association.

Exterior features of the building are its Bedford limestone facade with a decorative slab of Cold Spring, Minnesota, red granite. Windows and doors are of aluminum.

Inside, the building will house the offices and quarters of the Greencastle Savings and Loan Association, Ernest H. Collins and Company, and Fidelity Abstracts, Inc.

The main floor area is devoted to public rooms, the business offices of the Association, and the offices of Ernest H. Collins and Company. Rooms include a vestibule, a large lobby with a lounge area designed as a place where one may meet friends or rest, the business office of the Association, offices of the Collins insurance and real estate firm, a loan-closing room, and a conference room.

The basement area includes the office of Fidelity Abstracts, Inc., a large future community room, and a mechanical room which will contain two five-ton air conditioning units and other equipment.

In keeping with the aim of the Association to serve the public in every way, plans call for public use of the lounge and of the community room. The community room and its kitchen, when completed, will be available for use by community organizations. In addition, the conference room will be available for use by realtors, out-of-town attorneys, and out-of-town companies.

Architect for the new building was Arthur L. Burns of Indianapolis. The building was erected by Harry Black, General Contractor, and engineering details were developed by the O. M. Rotz Engineering Company of Indianapolis. Mr. Arthur Perry was supervising architect.

REV. HARTSOCK INSTALLED AS NEW MINISTER

ASSUMES PULPIT OF PRES-BYTERIAN CHURCH SUN-DAY EVENING

The Rev. Donald E. Hartsock was installed as pastor of the Presbyterian church Sunday evening in a very impressive ceremony conducted by the Rev. W. R. Clouserhouse, Moderator of the Indianapolis Presbytery of Indianapolis, assisted by the Rev. D. W. Fowler of the First Church of South Bend, formerly the home of Rev. Hartsock, and the Rev. Ray Bowden, First Church of Indianapolis.

The sermon of the evening was given by Dr. Harry Cotton, Washash College, who has filled the local pulpit numerous times during the vacancy. His sermon subject was "God's Call to a Timid Church." It was a fitting subject for the occasion and the speaker enlarged on the subject in a manner that he made it apply to the community and to the church.

Rev. Hartsock was installed by the Rev. Clouserhouse, Moderator for Indiana. He read a series of questions for the Rev. Hartsock answer affirmatively. The charge to the pastor was given by the Rev. Fowler of the First Church, South Bend, a personal friend of the new pastor. He brought the best wishes of many from South Bend to Rev. Hartsock and family and he also added some advice which he said he had found useful in his work. He urged the Rev. Hartsock to keep on doing and at the close, said "be yourself."

The Rev. Bowden, as an undergraduate at Hanover told of his football team being defeated by DePauw nine years ago, on his first appearance in Greencastle. He said it was a happy occasion to return to the city, as he had a soft spot in his heart for Greencastle. He urged the congregation to be kind of a congregation that would do its best for the pastor and for the work of the church. He said a congregation could make or break a pastor, and he said the local pastorate is a challenge to the new pastor to grow and to work in the ministry with a whole heart.

Following the induction services, open house for the church members and friends was held in the Manse.

USE OLD STATUTE

GREEN LAKE, WISC., (UP)—Motorists here in Green Lake County who have a yen to drink and drive are doing it with caution since Sheriff Joseph Walker called into action a little known Wisconsin statute.

Walker "unearthed" Statute 176-26 which permits local law officers and courts to forbid persons convicted of drunken driving from buying intoxicants for a year.

And the clincher is a stipulation which allows the names of the tipping motorists to be posted in taverns for all the neighbors to see.

Teachers Heard Talk By Humbert

"Who is the Teacher?" "Who is the taught?" "What are we trying to do in education?"

These questions sparked the challenge of Dr. Russell J. Humbert, president of DePauw University, who spoke at the luncheon following a meeting of the Indiana Classroom Teachers Executive Board, on Saturday, September 15 at the Hotel Sheraton-Lincoln in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Hazel Owens, Mrs. Ida Mae Yousse, John McCullough and Don Marketto of the local Classroom Teachers Association attended the state meeting. Superintendent Royce Kurtz attended as a special guest.

Dr. Humbert's speech, "Ethics and the Teaching Profession," reinforced the theme of the day's meeting. Education must be combined with moral and spiritual values by teachers in their individual ways to strengthen the leadership of our country.

In the ethical sense, this means there must be a keen desire to teach, and teachers must be alert to the call of professional leadership. High moral integrity to inspire the trust of youth, the community and his professional associates is at the apex of teachers qualifications. Those who choose teaching with this ideal in mind represent a marriage of spiritual and moral values through their desire to help others.

Reports were heard on the National Education Association convention and the National Classroom Teachers Association convention.

DULLES FLIES TO LONDON FOR CANAL PARLEY

WILL SEEK PEACEFUL SO-LUTION TO CURRENT
SUZ CANAL CRISIS

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today headed again for London for the third time in search of a peaceful solution to the Suez crisis.

Dulles left this afternoon by plane for the new London Suez conference which opens Wednesday. He was reported to have talked over final plans with President Eisenhower Sunday night by telephone.

Officials said Dulles' goal is widest possible support for the proposed Suez Canal "users association" among the 18 nations invited to the conference. They said he had some trump cards in his pocket to help him get what he wants.

As Dulles prepared to leave, administration sources said the United States is prepared to underwrite a costly emergency program for getting oil to Western Europe if Egypt closes the canal to the "users association."

The emergency plan calls for stepping up oil production in the United States and Venezuela and sending oil tankers from the Middle East the long way around Africa. Informed sources said some oil industry experts figure the plan would cost $500 million a year.

Dulles told a news conference last week that facilities of the Export-Import Bank would be available to help the European countries meet the extra expense.

A team of government and industry experts has been at work on the problem, drawing up a detail plan for the standby operation.

Eight Die In Florida Crash

LAKE WALES, Fla. (UP)—A head-on collision Sunday night killed eight persons, including two young white men and six Negroes.

The only survivor of the crash, an unidentified Negro boy, was in very critical condition today and not expected to live.

Lt. R. C. Webb, Lakeland, in charge of State Highway Patrol troopers investigating the crash, said the accident occurred three miles west of here.

A witness in another car reported that the automobile with the two white men swerved out of control after rounding a curve at very high speed and skidded sideways into the wrong lane. The car containing seven Negroes, including three small children, struck the other vehicle broadside. The negroes were apparently all members of the same family.

"There was nothing left except a junk heap of nuts, bolts and metal," a highway patrolman said. One of the Negro victims had to be cut from the wreckage.

Constitution Week Underway

Constitution Week was devised by the Daughters of the American Revolution and a proclamation by President Eisenhower followed. In this time of stress it is well for the American people to guard carefully the implement of their freedom.

While the states were struggling and fighting for their independence, the Union was held together by a great cause, and not by the Articles of Confederation which did not give Congress power to enforce its laws or resolutions. The Articles were merely a League of Friendship.

There was jealousy and controversy among the states on trade, taxation and other matters. Groups throughout the country were planning to withdraw, some even thinking of calling upon England for protection. Weakness, disorder, unemployment and confusion prevailed. The country was on the verge of anarchy. Washington, Franklin, Hamilton and Jefferson were in despair. If the Union was to be saved decisive action was imperative.

The Continental Congress was called to revise the Articles of Confederation but instead the delegates prepared and adopted the Constitution of the United States, Sept. 17, 1787.

The quick and marvelous change from chaos to orderly progress brought about by the Constitution is the crux of American history, a clear understanding of which gives the Constitution its proper place in its relation to our miraculous progress in becoming a leading nation of the world.

Not only did the Constitution save the Union after the Revolutionary War but it has since guided with safety this nation through every crisis and depression and will continue to do so as long as the people uphold and protect it.

Gladstone, one of England's greatest statesmen said, "The American Constitution is the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

Washburn Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution asks you to join with them in commemorating this great document.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

Uncle Sam Skimps With Foreign Service Funds
By Margaret Latrobe

One man's work is another man's pleasure. "Expense account" spending may be a gala ball for some, but for others, On-the-cuff entertainment sounds like two-way free-loading, but often leaves the freeloaders wondering who won what. The average Joe cannot win a bout with an expense account, unless he carry abacus, slide rule and mint copies of Federal Reserve rulings. There are hidden costs implicit in shaping up for a round of company expense festivities, costs which rob the fun and make it work.

Private businessmen know this very well. Government em-employees, particularly in minor foreign assignments, know it, too. Expense accounts of our diplomats living abroad are meagre. And, like Mark Twain's weather, no one does a thing about it. According to reports from interesting spots like Caracas, Buenos Aires, Paris and Kuala Lumpur we have junior embassy people who can't pick up the tab for a soda pop with frequency. How they going to learn who is espionageing whom when they are financially broke, unable to exchange crumpets or maintain membership in the handball club? Although we seem well able to ship defense goodies to Tito, we consider it overlavish to provide our foreign service with anchovy and cheese money.

Company treasurers, both of private business and government, can be amusingly sanctimonious about expense accounts. Of the two, government expenditures are more sensitive to any suggestion of "padding." If Senator Swizzlestick ever got wind of the Pompano delegation drinking up four quarts of ginger beer, the diplomatic corps might well turn in its tuxedos.

Muzzy's Unorthodox Play
Fools The Experts

It is a fantastic fact that Mr. Champion, a fine bridge player, is at a distinct disadvantage when opposed by Mr. Muzzy, one of the world's worst.

The bidding:
South West North East

The reason is that Mr. Champion plays almost flawlessly and it is hard for him to realize that everybody does not use his sound, orthodox methods. The experts of the game constantly get into trouble because the Mr. Muzzy's don't play "right."
In today's deal, for example, Mr. Muzzy decided he should lead a spade against Mr. Champion's three no trump contract.
Now if Mr. Champion himself had been leading from the West hand he would have chosen the fourth highest card in the suit, the four spot. But to Mr. Muzzy a little spade is a little spade. He led the eight.
"TOP OR NOTHING"
Mr. Champion looked at this card and figured it to be a "top of nothing" lead. He knew it could not be a fourth highest because, with the ace and nine in his own hand and the ten from Mr. Abel on the first trick, there were only three cards Mr. Muzzy could have that were higher than the eight.

These were the king, queen and jack and even Mr. Muzzy would lead the king from that holding.
Well, in any case it appeared necessary to duck a couple of spade leads. Mr. Abel was permitted to win first trick with the 10. He returned the jack and Mr. Champion ducked again.
On this trick Mr. Muzzy, for no particular reason, dropped the four. Now on the Queen of spades continuation Mr. Champion won and Mr. Muzzy played the deuce.
DIAMOND LEAD
At this point there was no doubt at all that Mr. Abel was left with two good spades and that Mr. Muzzy's original holding in the suit had been 8-4-2. Confidently Mr. Champion led a diamond to dummy's king.

He returned a diamond and finessed the ten. Here the roof fell in. Mr. Muzzy dazedly won and managed to lay down two spade winners, defeating the contract.
The roar of rage from his right told him that something sensational had happened. He didn't quite know what it was but there was no point in letting anybody know that. "Fooled you, didn't I?" he said.
KOREA DRAIN ON U. S.
TOKYO (UP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender D-La., described the Republic of Korea today as a "bottomless pit" for U. S. economic aid and said the program there was being run by a bunch of American "plug-heads."
The outspoken Louisianan, a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, announced he would fly to Seoul today to check his present opinion that "we ought to cut off economic aid almost entirely."

Ellender, now surveying U. S. aid program in Asia, was joined in Tokyo by Sen. Henry C. Dworshak R-Idaho for the final 20 days of the inspection tour. They will visit Korea, Formosa and southeast Asia nations receiving American aid.
Ellender and Dworshak flew to Seoul today. Ellender said in a planeside interview the United States must continue military aid to Korea but must trim economic help.
"We cannot keep pouring in money," he said.
"We've got a bunch of plug-heads there in the U. S. economic aid program—and the same thing seems to be true in Formosa—who are trying to balance the agriculture and industry."

Indiana's "Highway of Tomorrow" is yours to use today!

Heartiest congratulations to the Indiana Toll Road Commission and to all the engineers and contractors who have participated in the creation of the magnificent all-concrete Indiana Toll Road—the state's newest and greatest road.

When the engineers chose concrete for the Indiana Toll Road, they assured highway users the safest, longest-lasting pavement that can be built—the last link in a great chain of roads stretching from Illinois to New York City.

As you drive safely and without interruption over mile after mile of this fine modern highway, you will be sampling the kind of travel planned for the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. Opposing roadways separated by a median strip, limited entry and exit points, gradual curves every two miles to eliminate monotony, long sight distances and gentle grades—these are some of the many advantages you will enjoy.

As every motorist knows from experience, concrete's highly skid-resistant surface permits quicker stops, wet or dry; its light-colored surface provides better visibility at night, when the accident rate is highest.

In its role of providing technical service on concrete construction to engineers and the public, the Portland Cement Association was privileged to render assistance on the Toll Road's construction. We are proud of the part we have played in helping make the Indiana Toll Road a safe, smooth-riding, durable concrete road—your "highway of tomorrow."

A TANKER, loaded to the brim with wine, is being sent to Cyprus for the use of French troops stationed there. That's the tastiest bit of war (or should it be "bar"?) news we've heard of in a long time.
In England a goat was found in a mine shaft 200 feet down. Probably looking for some old, discarded tin cans.
Fifty Italian convicts went on a hunger strike because of lack of music on the prison radio. What's their favorite, "The Prisoner's Song?"
A golf course is to be equipped with an elaborate system of lights to permit night play. Zadok Dumkopf says he isn't a bit interested—he plays badly enough in broad daylight.
If after-dark golf becomes popular we may have to add two more hazards to the game — chiggers and gnats.
A Canadian scientist says mosquitoes are attracted by a sleeper's hot breath. What are we supposed to do — snooze with an ice cube in the mouth?
A Montreal man has been charged with burying his new automobile and then reporting it "missing" to the insurance company. What is this—a wrong kind of hidden assets?

CLASSES HELD IN TAVERN

BECAUSE OF overcrowded conditions at St. Mary's Catholic grade school in Elm Grove, suburb of Milwaukee, pupils of the first and second grades are attending classes in the side room of a tavern. The bar room is in the foreground. The tavern does not open for business until school is out. (International Soundphoto)
